COSHH DATA & PRODUCT INFORMATION

The majority of the Bailey Peerless products do not have any COSHH implications or requirements. Further information on our two main product ranges is shown below.

Drain Cleaning and Testing Equipment

We provide separate product data sheets on 3 groups of products:-

- Drain Testing Dye
- White Smoke Pellets
- Smoke Testers

These product data sheets are available on request.

Many of the other Bailey products will fall into the category of 'Hand Tools'. When using these types of products we would recommend taking the usual safety precautions of wearing suitable protective clothing, gloves and eye protection. If working at height, the necessary safety precautions should be followed.

Waste Outlet Fittings for Kitchens and Bathrooms

There are no hazardous substances related to this range of products.

Many of these products have threaded sections and other sharp edges and care should be taken during installation to avoid abrasion or cuts from these areas.

If any further information is required regarding the correct method of use or guidance on correct installation for any specific product(s), please contact our sales office.
